

Lesson 1 - Create

I thought we could explore this page from our book this week. We're not in winter at the moment though are we? Which season are we in? If you can read the smaller writing on the page, it says: Feeding them helps to get them ready for nesting in the spring. So all those nesting birds will still appreciate your efforts to feed them. Please note though, if you are feeding the birds in your garden in autumn you should continue through the winter. This is because they will learn that food is available in your garden and spend valuable energy travelling to your place for food in winter.

Your activity for today is to create a bird feeder for your garden. Where could you put it so that squirrels and other rodents don't raid your bird feeder?
